Since 2014, TCC has held the top spot, delivering high-quality projects across the U.S. in a variety of product types, including office, industrial, residential (under TCC’s High Street Residential subsidiary), healthcare, mixed-use and retail.

“This national recognition is a testament to all of our TCC team members, each of whom continue to focus on our firm’s objective of building the best projects, on the best sites, in the best markets” said TCC’s Chief Executive Officer Matt Khourie. “Additionally, our success would not be possible without the strong support of our equity and debt partners, our tenants, and importantly, the communities in which we build. To those stakeholders, I express our thanks for helping us translate our development concepts into buildings that serve both the community and the business marketplace.”

Commercial Property Executive’s ranking of The 2018 Top 50 Developers is a weighted formula based on a variety of factors including, but not limited to: current and future plans, market value of projects completed and under construction, and geographic and property diversification (CPE, December issue).
